DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Species B and D in the reply filed on 19 October 2005 is acknowledged.
2. Claims 15-24, 34, 35, 38-46, 48, 49, and 51 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected group/species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the replies filed on 17 March 2005 and 19 October 2005.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claim 47 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Hudson et al. (3,513,728).

Hudson et al. discloses the same method including forming a drill bit structure (Fig. 1) comprising machining a plurality of holes in pre-selected locations in the drill bit structure (66 and Column 4 lines 63-64 states that 56 and 58 where formed by machining, therefore, it is inherent that the hole 66 was formed by some method of machining), positioning a spacer insert in each of the holes (68), applying a hardface material over at least a portion of an outer surface of the drill bit structure (60) wherein at least a portion of the spacer insert is covered after application of the hardfacing material (60 and Fig. 4B), and removing the plurality of spacer inserts from the holes and positioning drilling inserts in each of the holes (Column 1, Abstract).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 28-31, 36, 37, and 50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hudson et al. in view of Davies et al. (2002/0035895). Hudson et al. discloses the invention including, with respect to claims 28-31 and 36, the drill bit structure comprises at least one roller cone (12), the plurality of holes are machined in substantially circumferential rows on the at least one roller cone (Fig. 1), the drill bit structure comprises at least one shoulder of a bit body (58), and the arranging the plurality of spacers in rows on the at least one shoulder (Fig. 3).

However, Hudson et al. fail to disclose applying the hardfacing material comprises using a high velocity oxygen fuel hardening process and positioning drilling inserts comprises brazing drilling inserts in each hole.

Davies et al. teaches using a high velocity oxygen fuel hardening process (paragraph [0008]) and brazing drilling inserts in each hole (last sentence of paragraph [0027]). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to have provided Hudson et al., with high velocity oxygen fuel hardening process and brazing drilling inserts, as taught by Davies et al., for a more efficient method of forming the drill bit.

7. Claim 32 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hudson et al. in view of Davies et al. as applied to claims 47 and 50 above, and further in view of Matthews, III et al. (6,568,491). Hudson et al. and Davies et al. disclose the invention but fail to disclose the spacer inserts comprise graphite. Matthews, III et al. teaches graphite insert (Abstract line 1). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time of the invention, to have provided Hudson et al. in view of Davies et al., with graphite spacer inserts, as taught by Matthews, III et al., for a spacer material with increased hardness and durability.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 22 July 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The term "cover" is defined as: To place something upon or over, so as to protect or conceal. Source: The American Heritage® Dictionary of the English language, Fourth Edition Copyright © 2000 by Houghton Mifflin Company. Published by Houghton Mifflin Company. All rights reserved. In Figure 4B of Hudson et al., item 60 is clearly "over" a side portion of 68 and clearly conceals this side portion.

Conclusion

9. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Sievers et al. and Findley et al.

10. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
